

Young Professionals
Washington
Policy Center

summit
public schools

2020 WPC CHARTER SCHOOL GRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP

Washington Policy Center Young Professionals would like to acknowledge the hard-working students at Summit Sierra with two $2500 Scholarships to graduating seniors. WPC Young Professionals exists to educate, engage, and empower the next generation of policy, business and community leaders. We believe access to quality education is key to empowering students and providing equal opportunity in academic life and beyond. To honor the work of Summit Sierra's success as a public charter school and their 2020 graduating class, we would like to extend our 2nd annual high school scholarship! Recipients can use the scholarship to pay for tuition at their college, university, or trade school.

Requirements

Applicants must be graduating seniors and attending a college, university, or trade school in Fall 2020. Applicants should display positive character traits and an eagerness to continue their education.

To Apply

Please submit the following items: resume, one letter of recommendation, and one-page essay to answer the following questions:

- How would you benefit from receiving this scholarship?
- How do you display positive qualities as a student?
- What is an example of one economic or public policy issue that interests you and why? (Please choose an issue that Washington Policy Center focuses on as part of their eight research centers. More info can be found at www.washingtonpolicy.org)

Email application materials to mhawkins@washingtonpolicy.org, WPC Young Professionals Director, Miranda Hawkins. Finalists may be contacted for an in-person or skype interview with the WPC YP selection committee in May and then announced at WPC's May 21st Life and Leadership event at Summit.

Application Deadline: May 1st, 2020

For more information about Young Professionals visit:
washingtonpolicy.org/young_professionals/
or scan phone camera on code.

Young Professionals
Washington
Policy Center

What is WPC

Washington Policy Center (WPC), is a non-profit, independent think tank that provides accurate, high-quality research and innovative solutions for policymakers, the media, and the public. The WPC mission is to promote sound policy at the state and community level with the goal of making Washington state a better place to live, raise a family, get an education, and run a business. To learn more visit, washingtonpolicy.org

What is YP

Washington Policy Center (WPC) Young Professionals group is a state-wide program designed to engage, educate, and empower the next generation of leaders to make a positive difference in WA state. WPC's Young Professionals group works to educate community leaders of all backgrounds! From environmental issues, education, health care or any of WPC's other economic centers, WPC strives to empower young people ages 18-40 through policy education, relationship building, community outreach, and events! We have YP Groups state-wide and college clubs located at GU, WSU, UW, SU, and UPS. WPC YP's is an excellent opportunity to interact with key national and local policymakers and business leaders, as well as network with other young professionals in our region. To learn more visit, washingtonpolicy.org/young_professionals/